

Song: "Waiting At Your Door"

Album: Reckonings (2023 Release by Eric Kilburn)

How close can we get? What risks can we take?
Hearts that opened once, Hearts afraid to break
You say "these are my walls", my reasons in a row
I will wait right here, until you choose to go

(Chorus)

You are not alone
Love is at your core
This world is your home
It's waiting at your door

How close can we get? What is in the way?
I am hopeful yet, the fog and fear will melt away
Somewhere down the line, someone let you down
A lifetime's a long time, to carry that around

(Chorus)

You fought through so much to get to this place
What would it be like to feel the gift of grace?
I will cheer you on as you find your way
These walls don't stand a chance, they are crumbling today

(Chorus)
